Part I: Overview of Workplace

ACT is an organization that leads in college and career readiness assessments backed by almost 60 years of research. The company has expanded into various areas including solutions for school administrators, counselors and parents or workplace solutions for job seekers and development. ACT is breaking into various aspects of learning, not just the ACT assessment.

Part II: Workplace Focus

As a part of ACT's Comprehensive Labor Planning, it is imperative that ACT is aware of future trends and projections of external labor markets. I have researched various labor markets working with the Talent Strategy team to show the current state of the market and where it will be in the future. I am also collaborating with ACTNext to design an online course available for high school students in 2020.

Part III: Introduce the Problem

My students will work in groups to research current labor market statistics and future projections to evaluate the labor market when they

Part IV: Background

Students will need content knowledge in:

- Mean, median and mode
- Interpretations of graphs and data displays
- Data analysis and interpretation
